HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

URDANETA CITY:

Estrella del Norte

Urdaneta was organized into a pueblo on January 8, 1858 when the contiguous settlement of the pioneering inhabitants, mostly Ilocanos and a sprinkling of Pangasinenses, met all requirements of becoming a town. It came into existence from the conglomeration of portions of barrios from the surrounding towns of Asingan, Villasis, Malasiqui, Sta. Barbara, Mangaldan, Manaoag and Binalonan.

The petitioners for the creation of the new independent town identified themselves as Cabeza Tenientes representing the inhabitants of barrios Batad in Asingan, Nancamaliran in Sta. Barbara and Caocalan in Mangaldan. They proposed that the new town be named Soldevilla, in honor of the Alcalde Mayor of the Province at that time, Senior Don Manuel Boutelon y Soldevilla. However, the Alcalde Mayor himself declined the honor and, instead proposed, with the recommendation of the Parish Priest, Fr. Nicolas Manrique Alonzo, the name Urdaneta. Father Andres de Urdaneta was a famous soldier, navigator, historian, cosmographer and evangelist who was assigned by King Philip II of Spain to join the Legaspi Expedition of 1564. The Vicar of Sta. Barbara and the curates of Asingan and Mangaldan supported Father Alonzo's proposal to name the new town Urdaneta.

The petition took almost two years to be processed. But soon after that the Governor-General issued a decree and the new town of Urdaneta was finally born on the 8th of January 1858. Two months later, on March 8, 1858, the town of Urdaneta was finally inaugurated. An assembly of Principales representing the seven towns composed of Asingan, Sta. Barbara, Mangaldan, San Jacinto, Manaoag, Binalonan, and Villasis gathered in Urdaneta. The documents on the proclamation of the new town was executed and signed by all the participating officials. Simultaneous was the construction of Urdaneta's first concrete church, forerunner of today's Catholic Cathedral, now the site of Eastern Pangasinan's Bishopric.

On January 10, 1998, through a bill sponsored by Rep. Amadeo R. Perez Jr., the Philippine Congress enacted R.A. 8480 converting the Municipality of Urdaneta into a component city of the Province of Pangasinan. The people of Urdaneta, in a plebiscite, overwhelmingly ratified this legislative act and Urdaneta was proclaimed a city on March 21, 1998.

PHYSICAL FEATURE

A. Topography and Slope

The city forms part of the Central Plains of Luzon consisting of generally flat landforms. Majority of the barangays have nearly flat terrain. The city has a general slope range of zero to three percent. However, the terrain at its southwestern portions, specifically in barangays Oltama, Cabaruan, and Sugcong, is terraced with a slope range of three to eight percent.

B. Soil

Urdaneta is blessed with rich soil suitable for almost all kinds of agricultural crops. The types of soil present in Urdaneta are the Quingua Series, Bantog Series, San Miguel Series, and San Fabian Series.

C. Natural Resources

Vegetative Cover. Pastureland covers 282.20 hectares which is a 2.33 percent of the locality’s total land area. This can be found in the rolling hills of barangays – Oltama, Cabaruan and Sugcong. Mango farms are located on the hills of these barangays while rice fields are on their lowlands which are watered by rivers and creeks. The city has no large-scale grassland and even forest.

Water Resources. The city has three major resources of water as well as several creeks in almost all the barangays. These include the Tulong and Musing Rivers at the northern boundary; the Mitura River bisected barangays Poblacion and San Vicente; and the Macalong River. These bodies of water, as well as the tributaries of the Agno River drain into the central plains of the Province of Pangasinan. Irrigation water to the prime agricultural lands of Urdaneta comes from the Tangal Perez Dam in barangay Nancalobasaan.

Mineral Resources. Mineral Resources in the city include tuffaceous shell deposits found in Cabaruan and Labit West, as well as gravel and sands deposits in the rivers.

D. Meteorology

Climate and Rainfall. Urdaneta has two major seasons, the wet and the dry season. The City experiences the dry season from November to April. The wet season, in turn, is experienced from May to October with an average rainfall of 86 mm. The heaviest rainfalls usually occur between July to September. Seven to nine return periods of typhoon visit the City annually.

Relative Humidity and Temperature. The city has a moderately hot temperature. The lowest recorded temperature is 21.6 °C during the month of December while the highest is 34 during the month of June. Relative humidity is 86 °C.

The table below shows the frequency of events or occurrences under the medium-range scenario in Pangasinan.

Climate Variable	Observed (1971-2000)	Changes in 2020 (2006 to 2035)	Changes in 2050 (2036 to 2065)
No. of days with Temp > 35°C	1280	2265	3728

No. of days with Extreme Rainfall > 300mm	2	13	20

E. Geologic and Other Natural Hazards

Earthquake. Urdaneta is traversed at its north eastern tip by the Pozorrubio to Umingan major fault line. This fault line goes in consonance with the Philippine fault line which runs from Dingalan Bay in Aurora Province to the Lingayen Gulf.

Siltation. The city is generally underlain by sedentary rocks of quaternary alluvial, lacustrine, river and residual deposits (Bureau of Mines, Regional Office I).

Erosion. Majority of the barangays experience no erosion at all. This means that no conspicuous erosion is experienced in areas that are flat level or nearly flat, especially in wetlands and paddy rice locations. Some portions of Labit West experience none to slight (insipient) erosion in which the topsoil is disturbed but ploughing may negate the very slight insipient erosion. Parts of barangays Cabaruan Oltama and Sugcong have slight erosion. The pattern in these areas is characterized by sheet erosion with small rills. Areas along the Macalong River and Tulong and Calegu Rivers experience slight erosion, as well.

Flood Hazard. Flood prone areas include portions of barangays Poblacion, Pinmaludpod, Nancayasan, San Jose, Camantiles, Tulong, Anonas and the lowland portions of barangays.

F. Environmental Critical Areas

Some areas are siltation-prone where debris flows and mudflows may occur in its low-lying areas near riverbanks, particularly in the northern part of barangays San Jose, Camantiles, Tulong, and portions of barangays Labit West, Catablan, Sto. Domingo, Sta. Lcuia, Cabuloan and Camanang. Erosion prone areas are also present in the hillsides of barangay Oltama. Flood susceptible areas are those barangays along the river system and those areas with poor drainage system. These barangays are San Vicente, Mananogbog, San Jose, Pinmaludpod, Camantiles, Anonas, Nancalobasaan, and Poblacion.

B. Water Facilities

Most residents of the city utilize upgraded artesian wells to pump groundwater. Sanitary inspectors of respective city health office conduct chlorination in flood prone areas to ensure the safety of the residents. Other major sources of water supply are tributaries of rivers and creeks (Agno, Tulong, Tagamusing, Macalong and Mitura Rivers).

The existing water supply system of Urdaneta was originally constructed in 1959 by the defunct National Waterworks and Sewerage Authority otherwise known as (NAWASA) to serve the Poblacion area only. The original water supply system consisted of an elevated concrete storage tank, a well/pumping station located beside the municipal hall and about 5.3 kms of distribution pipelines. In 1965, the distribution pipelines were extended to about 6 kms. more. The Urdaneta Water District (UWD) was created on February 20, 1976 by virtue of the Sangguniang Bayan Resolution No. 6, series of 1976. On that same day, the Sangguniang Bayan turned-over all existing water facilities to the custody of the Urdaneta Water District.

In 2019, the Urdaneta City Water District (UCWD) with the approval of the city government entered into a partnership PrimeWater Corporation to supply the city’s needs.
